OCPF Refers Non-Filers to Attorney General

The Office of Campaign and Political Finance today referred a total of 165 candidates and political committees to the Attorney General's Office for failure to file campaign finance disclosure reports during 1990.

The Office, in accordance with M.G.L. Chapter 55, notified Attorney General L. Scott Harshbarger that these candidates and/or committees are in apparent violation of state law for failure to disclose campaign receipts and expenditures during 1990. The attached list of 48 referrals represents those individuals whose names appeared on the 1990 ballot as candidates for statewide or county offices, governor's council, state senate or house seats as well as those candidates for county charter commission.

Candidates whose name appeared on the 1990 state primary or election ballot are required by law to report campaign finance activities to OCPF during the entire election year, regardless of the outcome of the election. These reports are then available for public inspection prior to the primary and general elections and at year's end.

912/296

In addition to these candidates, OCPF also referred 7 ballot question committees and 25 multi-candidate committees, the so-called PAC committees, for failure to file reports during 1990. The remaining number represents 85 candidates and their political committees whose names appeared on earlier ballots and who failed to file a year-end report for 1990. Candidates and committees must continue to file reports until such time as their committees are dissolved. The entire list of 165 names is available for public inspection at the Office.

The Office has been referring candidates and committees who fail to file the required reports to the Attorney General since 1975. The Office has filed legislation to obtain the authority to levy civil fines against those individuals or committees who fail to file their reports. This legislation will be considered by the Legislature during the current session.

The Office of Campaign and Political Finance was established in 1973 to monitor the campaign finance activities of all candidates on the state, county and municipal level. In addition, OCPF maintains campaign finance records for all candidates and political committees in order to provide disclosure of these activities to the public.
